Future Pathways

TRANSITION TO HIGH SCHOOL

Why Future Pathways?

For many students, life beyond high school is filled with uncertainty. Young people often don't know where to turn for support and how to make an informed decision about further education, employment or starting a career. They can lack the knowledge and understanding for how to access employers, and the coping skills to deal with the pressures of simultaneous work, training and study. Young people are also facing issues around recognising their interests, skills and what sort of work or career will interest them, and struggling with the idea of how to future proof their career.

The Future Pathways stage on the Creating Chances Youth Development Pathway offers academically designed and researched programs to provide participants with the skills required to navigate the impending choices for high school completion, and equip them with a tailored roadmap for the journey beyond.

Depending on the program, participants will explore what it takes to make a success of their post-school life, identify their particular skills and experience to help guide their choices and navigate their own personal identity, wellbeing and relationships.
